From College: Megan Johnson has graduated from Penn State with a Masters in Homeland Security.

Gracie Pippenger will graduate in August from MTSU.

ABILITY TO SHARE

The renowned soprano Janet Baker has a sense of what she terms "holy obligation" regarding her spectacular voice which has thrilled thousands across the world.

She says, "My gift is God-given, and it must be given back, We all have a gift to give."

If we find out what our gifts are and give them back with a sense of holy obligation, we will have valuable lives.

Talents and abilities vary. Few of us possess what might be termed extraordinary gifts. But we all have at least one talent which is uniquely our own.

Perhaps it is visiting the sick or the lonely, baking, sewing, teaching, gardening, organizing, being a good listener or a hospitable host. Whatever it may be, it is ours to use and share.

We may have even failed to recognize our talent, considering it insignificant.

But ordinary things are the important things, for life is composed largely of ordinary events, ordinary people, and ordinary tasks.

God asks us only to use what we have. Our ordinary gifts can become extraordinary when placed in God's hands.
